Copenhagen Health Center Welcomes Laci Reilly, FNP

LOWVILLE, NY - Lewis County Health System (LCHS) is pleased to announce Family Nurse Practitioner Laci Reilly, FNP-C, has joined the medical staff. She will see patients and provide a full range of primary health care services for the entire family five days a week at the Copenhagen Health Center, 9732 State Route 12 in Copenhagen.

“I am thrilled to welcome Laci Reilly in assisting LCHS in providing full-time access to care at our Copenhagen Health Center,” stated Gerald R. Cayer, LCHS Chief Executive Officer.

Ms. Reilly received her Bachelor of Science in Nursing from Barnes Jewish School of Nursing, St. Louis, Missouri. She continued her education to earn her Master of Nursing, Family Nurse Practitioner from the Regis College, Weston, Massachusetts.

“Laci Reilly, FNP-C, is a pleasant addition to our Family Practice team,” stated Sean Harney, MD, LCHS Chief Medical Officer, Employed Medical Practices. “Her diverse clinical experience and enthusiasm for family medical care will improve access to high quality health care for patients at the Copenhagen Health Center.”

Laci Reilly came to Lewis County, New York, from Elizabethtown, Kentucky, where she provided patients with a wide range of medical care, from wellness visits to chronic condition management. Before becoming a Nurse Practitioner, she worked in various nursing settings, including hospital inpatient, emergency department, medical-surgical, and hospice.

“I am looking forward to taking care of patients of all ages and providing primary care for the residents in Copenhagen and surrounding communities,” stated Laci Reilly, FNP-C.

For more information or to schedule an appointment with Laci, please call the health center at 315-688-2305.
